

Partnering with Food Delivery Services

1.

Largest delivery platform in the U.S. and Canada

#1 Market share

80% Consumer reach

Features:

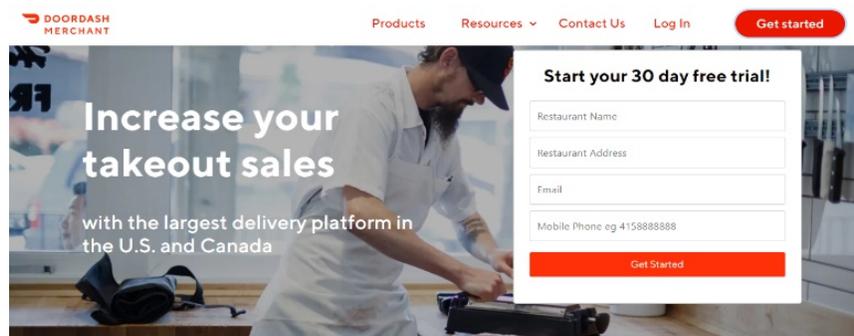

- Market your business to new costumers
- Post your menu online
- Handles your delivery needs with DoorDash drivers
- Your customers are automatically given a pickup option, allowing you to streamline pickup orders
- DoorDash asks for 30% revenue sharing with each of its partners. This allows them to cover delivery-related expenses like logistics, drivers, and support to keep your delivery business up and running
- Free DoorDash merchant product guide which walks you through the process of becoming a DoorDash merchant. Download merchant product guide here

FAQ:

Getting Started:

You can sign up to be on DoorDash here. The entire sign-up process should take about 10-15 minutes. You are asked to fill in some general information about how to contact you and how many restaurants you have. You are also asked for a few specific things like a picture of your menu, photos of your food, order protocol preference, and banking information (so that they can directly deposit your earnings into your account). After you submit this information, you will receive a few emails from DoorDash about how to set up your order protocol and merchant portal. Your restaurant will then go live on DoorDash within a week, and you will start receiving orders!

When you partner with Uber Eats, you're getting the partnership, tools, and data to help restaurants like yours thrive in a changing industry. It uses the same app system and driver fleet as the original Uber app that has hundreds of millions active users monthly. Like Postmates & DoorDash, it handles delivery and gives you the option to streamline pickup orders.

Features:

- Handles Delivery (allows employees to carry out the deliveries)
- Streamlines Pickup Orders
- One-time Activation fee
- Tablet for Receiving Orders
- Professional Photo Shoot of Menu Items
- Start Accepting Orders on Uber Eats Within Days

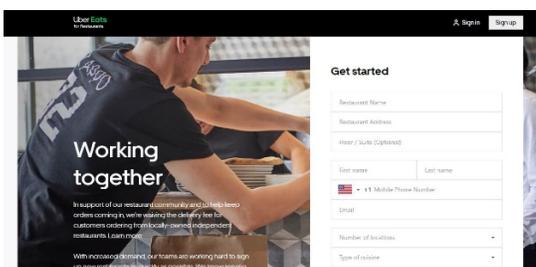

How it Works:

1. Setup and support on day one: With a starter kit and free food photo shoot, plus our order and menu management software, we get you looking great in the Uber Eats app and ready to satisfy customers.
2. Manage orders with efficient tools: See how you can boost your front-of-house workflow with our Restaurant Dashboard. Once you're a partner, we'll help you integrate orders from customers using the Uber Eats app with your existing POS to keep the whole staff in sync.
3. Deliver the way you want: Offer reliable delivery to your customers with the flexibility you need. Connect with delivery people using the Uber platform, use your own delivery staff, or try a combination.
4. Expand your marketing: Run promotions, get a boost from Uber's marketing reach—and enjoy more big opportunities to reach new customers in your city.
5. Get data that matters: Bring your performance into focus with insightful, actionable analytics. See key details like sales and customer feedback, with the context you need to act.

To learn more about how Uber Eats works for you, please click here.

Getting Started:

You can get started by signing up here. You fill out some contact and store info and you click submit to begin the process. Depending on how many locations you have, it's possible to become an Uber Eats restaurant partner and start accepting orders in just a few days! Uber Eats pricing has two parts. A one-time activation fee sets restaurant up with a welcome kit, tablet, restaurant software, and professional photo shoot. Also, a service fee is calculated as a percentage of each restaurant order made through Uber Eats.

5. GRUBHUB

Grubhub drives business for restaurants, with options to reach diners anywhere. Offers delivery through on-demand Grubhub delivery drivers or with your existing staff. Reach new diners through emails and coupons while rewarding loyal diners with targeted offers. Drive more takeout orders from your site with custom, Grubhub-provided tools.

Features:

- Handles Delivery with Grubhub Drivers or Existing Staff
- POS Solutions
- After joining Grubhub, restaurants' takeout order volume increases by more than 20%.
- Restaurants who join Grubhub see up to 6x growth in monthly takeout revenue versus non-Grubhub restaurants.
- Free to get listed on Grubhub

FAQS:

For frequently asked questions from merchants please click here.

Getting Started:

Submit your restaurant name and contact information here, and a sales executive from Grubhub will reach out to guide you through this process. All they need is a copy of your menu and a few other basic pieces of information. It's free to get listed on Grubhub. If they send you an order, they keep a marketing percentage. The higher the percentage, the more views your menu will get, and the more orders you'll likely receive. If you opt for the delivery service, they also keep a percentage to cover the cost of delivery.
